

You don't have to be an architect to be an AIA member. Become an Allied Member of AIA Illinois.

If you would like to become a part of the statewide organization that represents more than 4,000 members of the architectural profession you are invited to become an Allied Member of AIA Illinois. Through our award-winning government advocacy and communication programs, AIA Illinois is at the forefront of influencing the profession and keeping industry professionals in the know.

What Is An Allied Member?

Allied Members are those outside traditional architectural practice but involved in positions allied to the field. They have an established professional reputation and include engineers, planners, landscape architects, and those involved in manufacturing or industry. Allied members also include those employed by firms in the construction industry who are engaged in research, design, development, testing, manufacturing, distribution, or training. Individuals must not be eligible otherwise for membership in the AIA Illinois.

Why Should You Become an Allied Member of AIA Illinois?

- Show your support for the profession
- Have access to information and insight not available elsewhere
- Participate in networking opportunities exclusively for members
- Help shape architecture and the built environment through legislation and policy making
- Be connected to an influential organization
- Help promote and sustain industry standards and best practices
- Enable research, joint educational opportunities, and cooperative public programs on subjects of mutual interest
- Have qualified leads and targeted marketing with member mailings
- Join with colleagues to accomplish more collectively than we can individually

Membership Benefits
